

To truly enjoy New Year's Eve in Aruba, La Trattoria El Faro Blanco was the place to be!

Anyone will tell you that one of the most memorable things about New Year's Eve in Aruba that makes it so special is the fireworks all night long, and a great place to observe them and have a fabulous festive dinner is at La Trattoria El Faro Blanco. Located on the hilltop of the California Lighthouse, it offers a breathtaking view, and is wildly popular as a sunset retreat; for New Year's Eve, it offers the best vantage point to see all the pyrotechnics that take place that night.

Jackie and Dennis from Yorkshire, England were thrilled with their holiday dinner "After trying unsuccessfully to get to Aruba for the last three years as every flight was booked up. We arranged this vacation over a year ago to be sure to get here, and we have been delighted with our holiday," reports Dennis.

Additionally enjoying a holiday dinner with their families was an array of visitors and island residents, including the owner of La Trattoria El Faro Banco, ----- . Looking lovely in holiday red, she hosted a large family group and enjoyed being a good hostess not only to them, but to all her guests that night who appeared hailed from all corners of the globe and encompass several generations per family. The restaurant even put on their own fireworks display, taking advantage of their location so that as guests looked out over the terraces they were treated to an amazing show. Cameras were clicking, not only in an attempt to record the fireworks, but also the memories of a delightful end of year celebration in an especially beautiful location, accompanied by fabulous Italian food!
